- 12.2% of this population have some form of disability that challenges their ability to find and retain work.
- This is an extraordinary 457,000 people, 82% of whom are not working compared to only 34% of the non-disabled population.

How We do It

We are a unique Social Enterprise, operating nonprofit businesses that help fund our human services mission while actually employing many of the people that we are focused on helping.

Our Needs

While primarily self-funded, Goodwill South Florida still struggles to obtain funding that would allow us to vocationally train, place and employ more people.

Driven to Making a Difference

Despite being 96% self-funded, we are looking for supporters who are excited about financially participating in our mission.

Chair and President Report

Dear Friends of Goodwill,

As we reflect on the strides we made in 2021, emerging resilient from the challenges of the pandemic, we turn our gaze towards a purposeful 2022, embracing the opportunities for growth and evolution.

In assessing the changing landscape, it became evident that the workforce transformation accelerated by the pandemic is steering us towards a new normal. Remote jobs, virtual meetings, and redefined work roles all point to a fundamental shift that places digital skills at the forefront.

Recognizing this imperative, Goodwill forged partnerships with industry leaders such as Microsoft, Google, Comcast, Coursera, Facebook, and more. Together, we are committed to empowering thousands of job seekers with the digital skills essential for seizing better opportunities and navigating career transitions. This innovative collaboration not only aims to bridge the digital divide but also strives to enhance diversity and dismantle entry barriers in this rapidly evolving job market.

Each day, we see individuals who look to reenter the workforce. Their aspirations encourage them to acquire new skills vital for the evolving demands of the workforce. In essence, 2022 has become synonymous with the “Learn & Earn” ethos, embodying our commitment to closing the job and digital divide—a theme resonating throughout this year’s annual report.

We would also like to extend our heartfelt gratitude to our dedicated board members, whose unwavering commitment has been instrumental in steering us through these transformative times.

In the spirit of unity and progress, we look forward to the continued support and collaboration that will drive positive change in the lives of those we serve.

Warm regards,

Barbara Shrut

Goodwill In Memoriam

Harry Ramsarran,
Vice President of Service
Contracts for 25 years.

With profound sorrow, we share the heartbreaking news of the passing of Harry Ramsarran, Vice President of Service Contracts, a devoted member of our organization for nearly 25 years. Harry's legacy is deeply impactful, marked by his robust team and sustainable systems that, not only championed excellence, but also fostered growth and opened doors to meaningful job opportunities for individuals with disabilities.

Under his guidance, Harry's division provided a spectrum of services, including groundskeeping, porter service, food attendant, cashiering, food preparation, and janitorial/custodial work for numerous government contracts.

His adept management of these complex agreements, consistently renewed year after year, not only ensured the success of our organization but also secured valuable employment for countless participants, earning him admiration from both customers and partners. Additionally, Harry played a pivotal role in the launch and successful management of our commercial laundry operation almost a decade ago.

As a fervent believer in Goodwill's mission, Harry's unwavering dedication left an enduring mark on the lives of those we are committed to serving.

Harry will be remembered for his kindness, passion for helping others, and his unparalleled storytelling ability. Our hearts mourn the loss of a true stalwart, and we are grateful for the lasting impact he made on the lives of so many.

Achievers of The Year

Neise Atterberry

Neise Atterberry is 46 years old and was born in New York. She is a high school graduate with intellectual disabilities. She is friendly, and polite; with an eagerness to learn and push beyond her boundaries. She began attending Goodwill's Adult Day Training 23 years ago. She had difficulty performing multi-stepped tasks, illiteracy, minimum mathematical skills, sensitivity to criticism, and difficulty concentrating. Neise required consistent prompting to redirect her attention back to her task. Usually, she was able to regain her focus, but at times, she would become sensitive and frustrated to constructive criticism. She needed extensive one on one counseling to assist in calming her down.

With the assistance of the rehabilitation team, she learned how to focus and prioritize in order to complete higher-level tasks. Her ability to accept corrective feedback has increased while her cycles of frustration have dramatically decreased. She consistently demonstrates enthusiasm for learning new things and trying to be better at her job.

In 2022, Neise was given the opportunity to train as a helper at Goodwill's Donated Goods department. This job requires specific abilities; sorting, handling, and organizing items received. Neise exceeded expectations. In July 2022, she became a permanent employee at our Donated Goods department. She has never been absent to work! This is a testament to her passion and dedication.

Walter Anderson

Walter is 70 years old and was referred to Goodwill in 2008 by the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation and enrolled in the Vocational Training Program for sewing operators. After completing the training, he was employed as a sewing operator in Goodwill's Manufacturing Department. For 15 years now, he has worked and flourished in this role.

In 2022, the manufacturing department went through a transition from manual to digital ticketing. Even though extensive training was provided, the transition proved overwhelming for employees with visual impairment. Thanks to Walter's input, Goodwill mechanics were able to make adaptations that eased the use of the new device among the visually impaired team. Walter is a productive employee and has gained control of all known procedures.

Walter has an associate degree in music and has been part of the choir of The Spirit of Goodwill Band since 2009. In 2016, he was selected to participate in Goodwill's Outcomes Management committee as an advocate for the visually impaired. In 2021, Walter was chosen to represent Goodwill South Florida in a broadcast interview speaking about his experience in the manufacturing of the U.S. Army's new service members' uniform.

Walter has overcome multiple barriers and maintained a continuous humble attitude and amiable personality. With his admirable spirit and determination, Walter represents everything Goodwill's Mission Statement encompasses.

When people with disabilities come through Goodwill's doors, they are looking for a chance, like most of us, they are eager to work, succeed, and lead fuller lives. We understand that disabilities don't define people, that is at the core of our philosophy. Our work with people with disabilities is always through a lens of capability. Goodwill South Florida makes that possible by providing vocational rehabilitation, training, and employment services.

Kishore Abichandani

Kishore is 61 years old, born in Naga-Philippines with deafness. He also developed an anxiety disorder at a young age. He obtained a high school diploma in the Philippines and studied Introductory Accounting while living in New Jersey. With discipline and dedication, he became proficient in Microsoft applications and accounting-related programs. Before receiving employment assistance, Kishore worked as a data entry and office clerk for 20 years in California.

Kishore came to Goodwill in need of assistance with job placement services. He can communicate with guttural sounds and speak basic words in English. With the use of a hearing aid device, Kishore can hear limited sounds. But these challenges did not stop him, he had goals and was ready to pursue a better-paying job. He required the assistance of an ASL interpreter during job interviews, training, and communication in general.

In 2022, Kishore began working full-time, with full benefits at Akerman Law Company. He has demonstrated exemplary dedication and effort. Rick Gutierrez, a senior supervisor at Akerman, says that Kishore has added value to the company's office operations and is always ready to assist using his technical savviness. He is highly dependable, a quick learner, and an excellent team player. In a few words, the supervisor said, "Kishore is a breath of fresh air to Akerman."

Kishore says he "is very satisfied with his job, his supervisors and overall management style, and that he appreciates the values and ethics of Akerman, as well as the professional services he received from Goodwill staff."

Thomas Arteaga

Thomas Arteaga is 30 years old, polite, soft-spoken, and well-mannered. As a child, Thomas suffered from frequent ear infections and required multiple ear surgeries. At 8 years old, he was diagnosed with ADHD. Thomas was known at school for quickly getting confused and having daily behavioral outbursts. At age 17, Thomas was diagnosed with Autism, Pervasive Developmental Disorder-not Otherwise Specified, and Asperger's Syndrome, along with other Orthopedic disabilities, Asthma, and Inattentive Behavior.

Thomas received employment services from Goodwill of South Florida from 2017 to 2022. He had been struggling to find a steady job. With the assistance of Goodwill south Florida, he began working at Best Buy. His manager reported that Thomas was easily confused and had difficulty with multitasking. After a few sessions of occupational counseling and job coaching techniques, Thomas began to show improvement in the quality of his work and his ability to concentrate on a task. His supervisor describes him as a goal-driven employee who requires support and coaching but who also has made significant improvements while meeting most of the demands of his job. He recently promoted Thomas to full-time and increased his salary rate.

Thomas is working very hard to overcome his insecurities, which require consistent encouragement and prompting from his job coach. Thomas says he "wants to trust himself and reach his full potential." Thomas is optimistic about his future and is exploring career options through Goodwill's Opportunity Accelerator Program.

Goodwill Loves Green

As one of the country's original recyclers, Goodwill has a responsibility to lead the conversation around repurposing, waste reduction, and sustainability.

Our programs have given used goods new life, diverted waste from landfill, and helped support our broader sustainability efforts.

We have undertaken building and fleet retrofits, invested in repurposing campaigns, and expanded sustainability planning efforts to reduce our environmental impact as we work with you to reduce yours through donations and convenient recycling services. Together we can have a powerful impact on our world.
